Cauvery row

Kannada activists HALF-BURY themselves in Maddur

Maddur, July 12 (Nagaiah &VNS)- Taking a cue from the farmers who half-buried themselves in Maharashtra to draw the attention of the Government towards their problems in April this year, a group of farmers half-buried themselves in Maddur this morning protesting against the release of Cauvery water to Tamil Nadu from the Krishna Raja Sagar Dam.

The protesting farmers, under the banner of Kannada Janapara Vedike came to Madduramanakere, dug pits that resembled graves and slept inside covering themselves with mud. Shouting slogans that releasing water was equal to burial of farmers on the Cauvery basin, activists pleaded the State Government and Supreme Court to come to the rescue of farmers.

They demanded that the State Government authorities should come to the spot and pour mud on them, instead of clandestinely releasing water amidst tight security. Today's half-burial protest was the continuation of the Vedike's six-day protest against the release of water.

Meanwhile, security has been tightened in Mandya following the final hearing on the issue of sharing of Cauvery water in the Supreme Court.

More than 2,000 Police personnel from Mandya as well as adjoining districts took out route marches in sensitive areas across the district yesterday.

The SC hearing is expected to continue for the next 15 days.

Kurubarahalli Sy. No. 4 and Alanahalli Sy. No. 41

Dhruvakumar steps in; matter goes to Chief Minister again

Mysuru, July 12 (MTY&BCT)- The vexed issue of properties coming under Kurubarahalli Survey No. 4 and other layouts namely Alanahalli, K.C. Nagar and Income Tax Layouts under Alanahalli Survey No. 41 will once again come before Chief Minister Siddharamaiah. MUDA Chairman D. Dhruvakumar told a delegation of residents this morning that he would personally speak to the CM when he comes to the city on July 15 and urge him to solve the imbroglio.

A delegation of residents led by B.P. Manjunath, BJP National Council Member and Convener, Survey No. 4 Hitharakshana Samithi met Dhruvakumar and appealed to him to save the properties of over 30,000 residents who have purchased land through City Improvement Trust Board (CITB) (now MUDA).

Manjunath told the MUDA Chairman that the entire land was unscientifically classified as 'B-Kharab' (government land) by some officers who had no knowledge about the history of the layouts formed on the land.

This has resulted in non-issue of 'khatas', title deeds, building plans, completion certificates, etc. since the last 3 years thus legally disabling residents from selling their properties, mortgaging them to raise loans or to partition properties or to meet their commitments, he said.

Thought for food

Noted oil chemist, food scientist, nutritionist and food historian, all rolled into one, Dr. K.T. Achaya (1923-2002) in his well-researched work titled Indian Food: A Historical Companion (Oxford University Press 1994), expedited during his brief association with Mysuru-based Central Food Technological Research Institute (considered as the golden years of the national laboratory), has authoritatively observed that while dosai and vadai (the two most consumed snack-cum-breakfast dishes) have a hoary two-thousand-year history in Tamil region, Idli (another ubiquitous dish) has its origins in a foreign land. Identity of the pioneers who have gifted every one of the large number of dishes and their recipes is lost in antiquity. Examples of the famed Mysore Pak having been first made by a staff in the kitchen of Mysore Palace during the rule of Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar, remembered by the name Kaakasura Madappa, may not exceed the number of fingers of our hand. Rarer still are occasions when we express gratitude to any of the unknown pioneers of India's delicacies.

The grain Ragi (Finger Millet, Eleusine coracana), traditional staple food for the land's rural population, rated as a storehouse of multi-nutrients, consumed mostly as ragi mudde (lump) in Karnataka and parts of Andhra Pradesh, prepared with just three ingredients — ragi flour, water and salt) — has made news this week having been bestowed modern technological input for the recipe.

The scenario of food habits of urbanites has already undergone a sea change on many counts which are there for all to experience. First of all, the link between the past of the land's traditions marking the preparation, serving and enjoying the immmerable dishes and present times, namely the grandma, the virtual work-horse in the kitchens of Indian homes, is no where to be seen, except in old age homes, mushrooming on an unprecedented scale in and around cities, including Mysuru. Secondly, the urbanites, cutting across all cross-sections of the social fabric, rushing to restaurants as well as road-side eateries, in spite of their limited menu. Thirdly, with housewives turning into the category of working women, leaves neither time nor energy nor frame of mind to toil in the kitchen. Fourthly, opting for convenience, families are increasingly patronising packaged ready-to-eat foods and fast foods, in addition to door delivery of lunch by caterers.

Cooking food for the family on traditional lines, being labour intensive, not being attractive to the female any more, the males are required to peel potatoes as it were to keep soul and body together. The just reported rush of graduates seeking cook's job in a government department for earning livelihood may see a day of cutlery and crockery in homes gathering dust. History of Indian foods is heading to be rewritten.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Oil bath, a weekly or at least biweekly ritual once, has almost become extinct now. It was mandatory on days like Deepavali or on occasions like marriage, but very few attach importance to it these days. In the eighties, the price of gingelly oil shot up and our elders decided to dispense with the biweekly oil bath on grounds of lack of time and cooperation from the children. Oil massage is a time-consuming affair both for the person concerned and the individual to whom the job is assigned and is a luxury in nuclear homes. In many families, the mother was particular about giving an oil bath to both girls and boys — Tuesdays and Fridays for girls, and Wednesdays and Saturdays for boys — saying the body heat had to be cooled for the school-going kids or for long and soft hair. Then it was pushed to Sundays. The kids used to make a big fuss about going through the process because not all oil could be removed after the bath or because they lost their playtime. Sleeping during daytime after an oil bath and a special nourishing lunch were disallowed. — R. Swaminathan in The New Indian Express.

Battling with hate speech

Berlin: 72-year-old Irmela Mensah-Schram is a special kind of cleaning lady. For the last 31 years, she has been travelling across Germany, cleaning its streets of hateful messages, be they propaganda posters or graffiti.

Armed with a small scraper and a can of spray-paint, Irmela Mensah-Schram, a.k.a. Germany's "Hate Destroyer" has been removing or covering up Nazi propaganda and other right-wing slogans across her country. She has received several awards for her long-term efforts to keep hateful propaganda off the streets, but also been fined and even taken to court for damaging others' property. Irmela Mensah-Schramm didn't really experience the hate associated with racism until she married an African man. After seeing the humiliating interrogation process at the immigration office and witnessing her husband being physically attacked on a bus, she learned first-hand how toxic things like racism, anti-semitism and xenophobia were for society, and decided to do something about it. The "Hate Destroyer" removed her first hateful sticker in 1986. And she eventually continued to clean the streets of such hate-promoting messages.

Automatic Toothbrush

London: Technology is changing every aspect of our lives and apparently tooth brushing is no exception. 'Amabrush,' the world's first automatic toothbrush promises to clean your pearly whites in just 10 seconds, with no effort required on your part.

A team of biotech engineers and dental care visionaries want to change that with the help of technology. Their seemingly-revolutionary invention, called 'Amabrush,' looks more like a rubbery mouthguard than a toothbrush, but promises to clean all your teeth thoroughly, in only 10 seconds, using vibrations created by a small motor, rather than repeated hand motion. Amabrush consists of two major components – a soft mouthpiece that goes into your mouth, and a "handpiece" that contains the motor and a micro-pump. The mouthpiece is made of antibacterial silicone that allegedly kills 99.99% of bacteria, all by itself.

Digital Life Certificate: Pensioners' ordeal to get re-scanned

Sir,

Consequent upon the decision of the Central authorities of the Provident Fund Organisation, under the Ministry of Labour, to adopt Digital Life Certificate of all pensioners in place of the earlier paper-based Certificate which was being submitted after 15th of November every year (through the respective Banks where the pensioner had his/her account), all pensioners were asked to undergo bio-metric scanning and linking with Aadhaar number.

To facilitate many lakhs of pensioners located all over the country, and being aged, City Service Centres (CSC) were approved and authorised to carry out this task and the website of the EPFO also indicated the address and contact numbers of such Centres State and City-wise. It also extended the last date to get this identification and scanning done first up to 15th January 2017 and subsequently till the end of April 2017.

I got myself identified for generating the Digital Life Certificate (DLC) as far back as 10th January 2017. It was also submitted to the bank of my PF account. We all received the pension with no warning or caution until May 2017. Most pensioners thought that the process has been successful and heaved a sigh of relief.

Many of us felt the shock only when we did not receive the pension in June and now in July. When contacted for the reason, the Assistant Commissioner for Pension at the EPFO, Gayathripuram, said that the SYSTEM has not accepted the DLC generated by the CSC and all such pensioners are required to visit the facility at the EPFO and go through the process once again.

He put the blame on the Central authorities and even meeting the Regional PF Commissioner in person did not produce any satisfactory answer. Everyday, hundreds of pensioners coming from far-flung areas of the city and taluk are being re-scanned at EPFO, but no acknowledgement is issued (ostensibly to save paper and comply with the motto of becoming a paperless office).

With no other choice, I too submitted myself to the process of re-scanning and Aadhaar linking at EPFO, Gayatripuram, some 10 kms away, on 30th June 2017. Even after 8 days, there is no confirmation of the process being successful. No pension has been credited to my bank account.

I do not know if I will be asked to once again visit the EPFO and get re-scanned and if that will be successful at all. Tweet to the Labour Minister Bandaru Dattatreya also has not helped.

There are thousands of pensioners affected like me. There is no assurance of satisfactory answer to our anxiety. Will the authorities concerned (MP, MLA and others) kindly take up the matter and redress the issue?

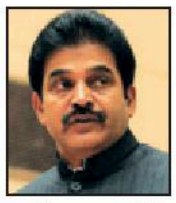
Congress targets 120 seats to counter BJP's Mission 150 and 115 seats of JD(S)

Siddharamaiah



Venugopal

Yeddyurappa

Kumaraswamy

Bengaluru, July 12 (KMS& BCT)- If the Bharatiya Janata Party under the leadership of former CM B.S. Yeddyurappa is on its "Mission 150," the Janata Dal (Secular) under the leadership of former CM H.D. Kumaraswamy is targeting 115 seats in the 2018 Assembly elections, not to be left behind, the Congress too is silently working on gathering 120 seats. With Congress Vice-President Rahul Gandhi setting a three-point agenda to AICC General Secretary K.C. Venugopal and his team for Karnataka, Venugopal and his team of four Secretaries — Manickam Tagore, Madhu Yaskhi Goud and P.C. Vishnunadh — are working overtime to ensure that the party will get 120 seats.

For that matter, the appointments of Venugopal and team signalled a strong message to the rank and file in the Karnataka to gear up for the State polls, which "would have to be won at any cost."

In a verbal communication to party leaders in Karnataka, Venugopal has asked them to identify 55 percent of the candidates and start work to ensure their victory. Acting on Venugopal's directive, Chief Minister Siddharamaiah has reportedly told at least 21 MLAs and three Ministers that it would be tough for them to get Congress tickets for the elections.

The leaders have been asked to identify those candidates first who can win constituencies without a tough fight. They have also been asked to prepare a list of other party candidates who will give fight for Congress party.

Going by Venugopal's strategy, it may be tough for Congress to select candidates early as the close aides of Chief Minister Siddharamaiah who are also influential Ministers are yet to finalise their constituency. They are Ministers Dr. H.C. Mahadevappa, T.B. Jayachandra, Ramalinga Reddy and Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC) President Dr. G. Parameshwara.

The party has to majorly fight the anti-incumbency factor in Karnataka. Venugopal and his team, however, believe that the Siddharamaiah Government has been doing well in the last four years by launching several welfare schemes. If there was anti-incumbency, the Congress would not have won the by-elections in Nanjangud and Gundlupet, they say. One more worrying factor for the Congress is the exodus of party members including senior leaders to BJP and JD(S). Earlier, the party strategy was to give tickets as per social justice but now, the party seems to be betting on winning horses.

Karnataka is crucial for the grand old party as it has lost grounds in most States and the party is desperate to come back to power in the State. And for this, the State unit has been asked to focus on those constituencies that have been lost by the party in the 2013 Assembly elections.

The buzz is that CM Siddharamaiah hopes to hold elections in December 2017, when Gujarat and Himachal Pradesh will also go to polls. With Bharatiya Janata Party's Prime Minister Narendra Modi and President Amit Shah likely to be tied down to their native State of Gujarat around that time, retaining control of which is a prestige issue for the saffron party, this will prevent them from canvassing in Karnataka.

BJP MLA Suresh Kumar for party organisation on UP model

Suresh Kumar

Mysuru, July 12 (SPN&DM)- Former Minister and BJP MLA from Bengaluru's Rajajinagar Constituency, Suresh Kumar, has mooted Uttar Pradesh model for party organisation in the State.

Speaking at the Chamaraja Constituency booth level 'Vistarak' meeting at Ganga Parameshwari Samudaya Bhavan in Tilak Nagar here yesterday, he said that BJP National President Amit Shah had stayed for 15 days in UP, taking part in 'Vistarak' meets across that State ahead of the UP Assembly polls earlier this year. This initiative of the party's National President should be an inspiration to every BJP worker, he said.

Emphasising that the party workers should work towards creating confidence among the electorate, Suresh Kumar said that the workers at the same time should also highlight the failures of the Congress Government in the State.

Lashing out at the state Government for practising 'Vote Bank Politics,' he said development had taken a back seat under Congress rule.

Giving tips to booth level workers, Suresh Kumar stressed on the role of booth and block level workers in catapulting the BJP to power in the 2018 Assembly polls.

Corporator Nandeesh Preetham, leader Prabhakar Shinde, Rangaswamy, Satish and others were present during the meeting.

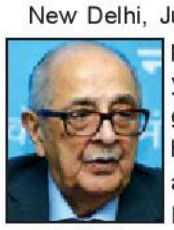
Court serves notice on Sunil Bose in graft case

Sunil Bose

Mysuru, July 12- The third Additional District and Sessions Court on Tuesday served notices on Sunil Bose, son of PWD and District-in-Charge Minister Dr. H.C. Mahadevappa and his associate Raju, to appear before it on July 25 in connection with the 2010 graft case. The city Court's ruling comes two months after the High Court quashed the order of a city Court, arraigning Sunil Bose and Raju in the graft case.

The third Additional District and Sessions Court has again asked why they should not be tried in the case. Two months ago, the High Court had quashed the City Court's order saying it is premature to book Sunil Bose and Raju when the trial is in the primary stage.

Old pacts on Cauvery distribution not valid, says Karnataka



Fali S. Nariman

New Delhi, July 12- The Supreme Court yesterday began its final hearing on the appeals filed by Karnataka, Tamil Nadu and Kerala against the 2007 award of the Cauvery Water Dispute Tribunal (CWDT) on sharing of water. The Tribunal was set up in 1991. In 2007, it ordered the allocation of 419 tmcft of Cauvery water to Tamil Nadu, 270 tmcft to Karnataka, 30 tmcft to Kerala and 7 tmcft to Puducherry.

During the day-long arguments before, a three-judge Bench of Justices Dipak Misra, Amitava Roy and A.M. Khanwilkar, Karnataka Counsel Fali S. Nariman told the Court about the agreements drawn between 1852, 1924 and 1974 and said during those years, no dispute arose between the States. Citing various judgments on water sharing, Nariman informed the Bench that the dispute between the States increased only after the expiry of those agreements. Nariman submitted that the 1892 agreement, the "parent" of the 1924 pact, dictated that Mysore (Karnataka) could not develop any irrigational infrastructure on the river without the consent of the Madras (Tamil Nadu) Government. Tamil Nadu had earlier countered before the Tribunal that the 1892 agreement was preceded by a good deal of mutual consideration of the interests of both the Madras Presidency and the Mysore State.

"For 50 years there was no dispute," Nariman told the Court. "We are entitled to the natural flow of water and there must not be any interference in the same. People of Bangalore have the first right to have supply of drinking water to them from Cauvery," Nariman added. The arguments remained inconclusive and were set to continue on July 12 (today). The marathon hearings were fixed after the SC had earlier refused the Centre's stand that the apex Court lacked jurisdiction to hear the Cauvery river dispute. It had upheld the Constitutional power of the Court to hear the appeals filed by the three States against the Tribunal award. The Centre had argued that the Parliamentary law of Inter-State Water Disputes Act of 1956, coupled with Article 262(2) of the Constitution, excluded the Supreme Court from hearing or deciding any appeals against the Cauvery Tribunal's decision. The Bench, however, had held that the remedy under Article 136 was a Constitutional right.

Gokulam dacoity kingpin is a murder convict out on parole

Mysuru, July 12- Believe it or not, the kingpin in the sensational dacoity which occurred in upmarket Gokulam on June 23 where Rs. 29,66,840 lakh cash was looted, is a murder convict who was out on parole. The convict managed to obtain a parole from Hindalga Jail in Belagavi and lead a criminal team of nine members in the dacoity.

It may be recalled here that on June 23, at around 11.45 am, a 10-member gang entered the office of Naveen Kumar Gupta, proprietor of Kyathi Steel Company based in Thandya in Nanjangud taluk. The office is located at Gokulam 3rd Stage (4th Main, 9th Cross near Vidyavardhaka Engineering College). The company has its head office at Yadavagiri and the Gokulam office was opened to make payments to transport operators and traders of steel scrap.

Investigating the case, the Police achieved a breakthrough after they arrested three gang members from Yeshwantpur in Bengaluru on July 9 and they were identified as Afsar Pasha, a resident of Gurappanna Palya, Shabbir and Zakir Pasha, residents of Yeshwantpur. The arrests were made near a bakery when one of the accused came there to have some snacks. The other two were nabbed later from where they were holed up.

Interrogating the trio, the Police learnt that the kingpin was one Saleem who was lodged in Hindalga Jail as he was awarded life sentence by a Court in Bengaluru for murder. He managed to obtain parole for one month and planned the dacoity, the Police learnt. A Police team from Mysuru has now gone to Belagavi to get Saleem's custody for further interrogation.

Building a gang of nine members, Saleem gained entry into the office along with his gang members and told office manager Vinod Kumar and scrap trader Shafi that they were CBI officers and demanded the keys of the shelves and cupboards. When the staff refused and instead asked them to show their ID cards, the dacoits thrashed the staff. They forcibly took the keys and made away with Rs. 29,66,840 lakh that was kept in a cupboard. They also took away the hard disk that had recorded CCTV visuals.

After committing the crime, Saleem asked the gang members to disperse and he went to a farm house on the outskirts of Bengaluru and hid there for two days. The Police also learnt that most of the money that was stolen in the dacoity was pocketed by Saleem. He returned to Hindalga Jail later. The team that has gone to Belagavi is likely to bring Saleem to Mysuru after completing the formalities.

Another Police team has been stationed in Bengaluru to arrest the six other members of the gang who are absconding.

Narasimharaja Assistant Commissioner of Police (ACP) Umesh G. Shet, City Crime Branch (CCB) ACP C. Gopal, V.V. Puram Inspector C.V. Ravi, CCB Inspectors C. Raju, Prasanna Kumar and team are part of the investigating team.

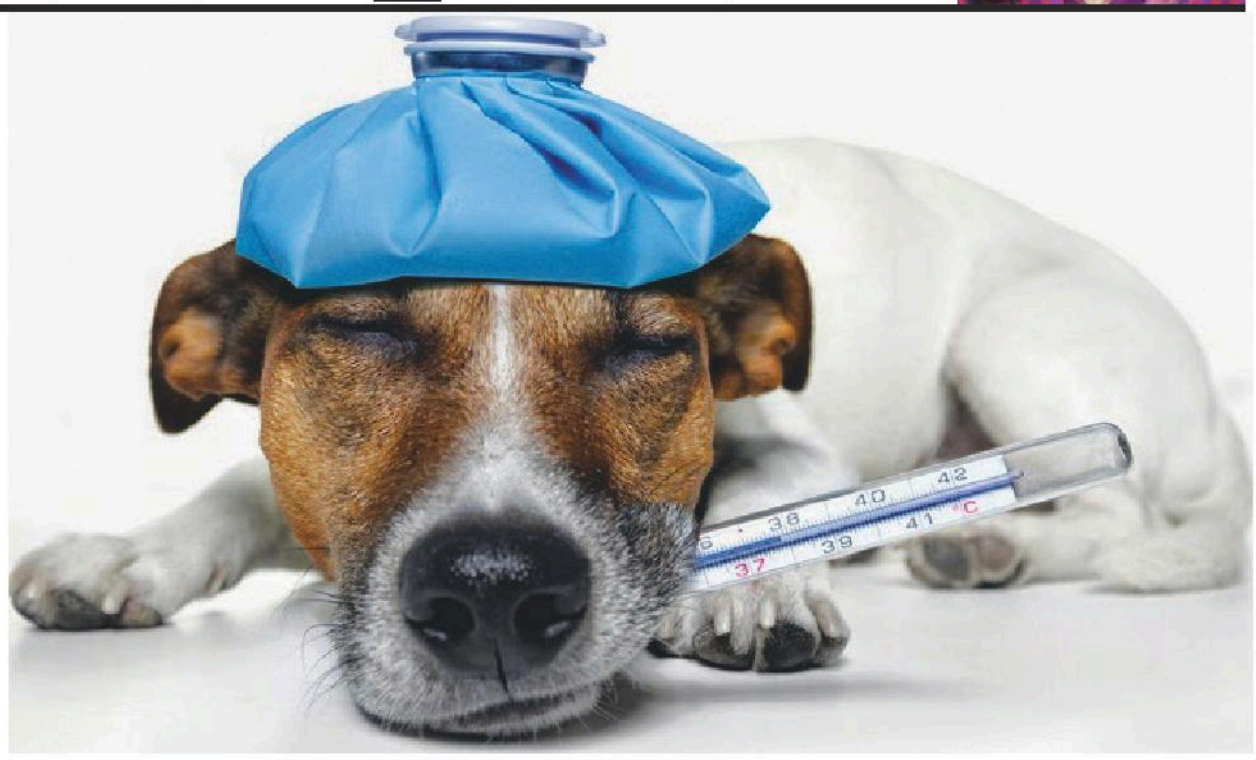
Pet Talk

Maneka Gandhi

In this week's Pet Talk, Maneka speaks about cold and health issues in dogs



Can dogs catch a cold?

We are spending more time in closed quarters, with windows and doors shut tight and no way to escape the germs. It is only a matter of time before someone in the house becomes sick. It could be you. It could also be your dog.

While there are differences in the types of viruses that infect humans, the symptoms are basically the same: sneezing, coughing, runny or stuffy nose, watery eyes. The illness is not communicable between species. Don't worry about catching your dog's cold.

Differentiate a common cold from a more serious health issue. For example, a common cause of dry cough is a condition known as "kennel cough." This is serious. There are other highly contagious, cold-like illnesses to be familiar with, as well. The influenza virus, parainfluenza virus, adenovirus, and tuberculosis are all illnesses that can be transmitted by infected dogs.

Another potentially life-endangering viral illness is canine distemper. A dog exhibiting symptoms of distemper will usually have coughing, vomiting, high fever, and a thick discharge from the eyes and nose.

There are several types of parasites that can get into the lungs, heart and trachea, and which can also cause symptoms that mimic a cold infection. Coughing and other breathing problems are the main symptoms. Fungal infections are also commonly found in dogs, and can sometimes lead to life threatening conditions, when the fungal parasite sets up house in the lungs, causing ongoing, repetitive coughing, scarring of the lung tissue, and eventually, in some cases, pneumonia.

More difficult to distinguish in many instances, but just as common in animals as in humans, are allergies to environmental triggers and/or food products. An undiagnosedasthma,or allergies that trigger respiratory symptoms, can also bring on coughing and sneezing fits in dogs.

If your dog is coughing or sneezing, but is in otherwise good health, you may be able to treat the condition as you would a simple human cold — with lots of liquids, soups, healthy foods, warmth, and maybe even some time in a warm and humid room. This can be done by placing a humidifier near his rest area, or by filling the bathtub with steaming water and letting the dog hang out in the bathroom for a bit (notin the water), just to let the steam loosen up his sinuses and lungs.

It is important to note that while most respiratory conditions will begin to improve within several days from the time of onset, some dogs' immune systems are not as prepared for an infection and may need a course of antibiotics, or other medications, in order to fully recover.

You can help to prevent a cold by keeping your dog indoors during cold, wet weather, with just brief trips outside for relief. Provide your dog with plenty of fresh water — even if there is water still in the bowl, make sure to change it at least once a day, ideally with a clean bowl every day — and healthy foods so that your dog's immune system can keep up with whatever germs come his way, so that he has the strength to exercise at a level that is normal for his age and breed. If your dog is of a breed that typically has respiratory challenges, your veterinarian may suggest keeping a humidifier in your dog's rest area as a matter of course.

Finally, it can be challenging enough to have one pet who is as "sick as a dog," you certainly don't want a house-full of them. While your dog is ill, make sure she is separated from the other dogs in the house so that the infection is not passed along.

Do dogs really need coats or sweaters during winters?

If you have a healthy, young, furry dog you won't have to invest in canine clothing for walks in the cold. In general, there are three kinds of dogs who benefit from the insulation provided by a sweater or coat:

i. Small dogs.

ii. Dogs who are elderly, chronically ill, arthritic.

iii. Dogsofathinbodytype,especiallythosewithshortfur.

What these dogs have in common is that they have a more difficult time generating and retaining enough body heat on their own. For these dogs, a little help in keeping dry and warm is always a good thing.

If you have a dog with arthritis, protective clothing is just one thing you can do to make winters more comfortable. Pet-safe heated orthopaedic beds are a great idea; you can also talk to your veterinarian about nutraceuticals, such as glucosamine and omega-3 oils that are clinically proven to ease joint pain. Other dogs may benefit additionally from the use of pain-control medication, typically nonsteroidal anti-inflammatory drugs (NSAIDs).

Abracadabra... Abracadabra...

By K.B. Ganapathy

Thus Spake Justice N. Santosh Hegde

How to fix India's problem?

I have no escape from Mahatma Gandhi while I write about Justice N. Santosh Hegde, presently the conscience-keeper of Karnataka, just as Anna Hazare of Maharashtra — both are relentlessly fighting to eradicate corruption in our Government and society.

Mahatma Gandhi had declared long before we got our independence that we Indians should eschew seven social sins for individual's self-salvation and for the good of his country. They are:

1. Politics without Principles.
2. Wealth without Work.
3. Commerce without Morality.
4. Education without Character.
5. Pleasure without Conscience.
6. Science without Humanity.
7. Worship without Sacrifice.

As a sad testimony to the Biblical saying 'No prophet is honoured in his own land,' a great majority of Indians, instead of following the Mahatma's 7-Moral Codes, are indulging in those 7-Sins without an iota of moral compunction. It is, therefore, not surprising that while the British kept the Mahatma and protected him for 60 years under grave provocation, we Indians in free India did not tolerate him even for 16 months and assassinated him. Let it be.

The spirit of the Mahatma's moral codes and ethical values cannot soar to save our country from its present corruption and degradation until the millstones of these 7-Sins the Mahatma has told us are lifted.

Here I am writing about Justice Nitte Santosh Hegde, a Kannadiga from Mangaluru, hailing from a family of name and fame — to the manor born. In the early 1960s, I had seen his father K.S. Hegde, appeared before him as a cub advocate seeking adjournment. What else? He was one of the three most highly respected and even feared Judges on the Bench of Karnataka High Court. In contrast, this chip off the old block seems rather too soft, gentle, nay genteel in contrast to his father. Of course, comparison is odious, but I find the benign quality of their hearts. As a Judge, Santosh Hegde might have had to follow both the letter and spirit of the law as per situation, but as Lokayukta he followed his heart and won the hearts of every one who sought help and succour from Lokayukta Justice Hegde.

Justice Santosh Hegde

People want to enjoy a peaceful life which is possible if Laws of India are placed, with great respect, reverence and even fear, above the religion of any citizen of the country, no matter the religion is of the majority or minority. Let religion be confined to the place of worship and homes except on special occasions with mutual respect.

On Monday [10.7.2017] my wife and I were among the 30 selected 'thinking people,' as the host described in his introductory remarks, gathered in the well-appointed house of industrialist and Chief of the NGO Pratham Mysore Ashvini Ranjan to listen to Justice Hegde and then interact with him. There were moments of mirth when Ashvini recalled Hegde describing Karnataka Lokayukta as a toothless tiger — as it did not have its own Police to raid-investigate the corruption cases and needed Government's permission to prosecute the culprits. Ashvini added 'clawless' and went further, to the extreme, to say 'a pussy cat, toothless and clawless.' And to work effectively after being reduced to this effete condition, is to expect the impossible. And any corrupt and dictatorial Government would want only that kind of a Lokayukta. After all, people (voters) very well know, corruption is always State-sponsored.

Corrupt politicians are in connivance with the bureaucracy whom politicians induce to be corrupt to share the loot. In other words, bureaucrats are used by politicians as conduits for corruption. Which is why, Lokayukta's powers are restricted so much so it cannot file a charge-sheet in the Court without the Government's permission.

And the Government will NOT give permission where the culprit-bureaucrat has shared the bribe money or is related to the politician in power. Therefore, after the initial media-sensation of a raid or an arrest, the corrupt is released as it happened in city recently when the ACB caught DDPUE Jayaprakash. It is a farce — a theatre of the absurd. The culprit will retire unscathed without any stigma or punishment. Therefore, is it ever possible even to check corruption, leave alone eradicating it, under the present law?

It is, therefore, not surprising Ashvini Ranjan called Justice Hegde a Tragic Hero. And promptly, Hegde responded saying, Dilip Kumar ! Not to be left out I said Hamlet!

Be that as it may, the central point of Hegde's narration with many examples derived from his experience as a Lokayukta was that the cause for corruption is greed and loss of moral values in the society.

In hind-sight, I feel one of the reasons for corruption could be the universal adult franchise given to a population where more than 75% of the population at the time of independence was illiterate and there was no educational qualification required to contest an election either. Strangely, even those with criminal antecedents and moral turpitude are allowed to contest an election.

Time India took a re-look into an old 67-year-old Constitution with a terrible fixation on Secularism and Minority appeasement and make it modern to fit into an India with many races, languages, religions, cultures and youth with education forming majority of the country's population. People want to enjoy a peaceful life which is possible if Laws of India are placed, with great respect, reverence and even fear, above the religion of any citizen of the country, no matter the religion is of the majority or minority. Let religion be confined to the place of worship and homes except on special occasions with mutual respect. The law relating to Election Commission too requires changes for the changed circumstances of the day.

Today's newspapers have carried a news of great significance which will definitely help strengthen any democratically established institution. The Rajasthan Government has become the first State in the country to lay down the minimum educational qualifications for contesting elections to Village Co-operative Societies and various other Co-operative bodies. The State Co-operative Societies Acts and Rules were accordingly amended.

If this was ultra vires to the Constitution, certainly this amendment would not have been effected. Therefore, why not our Parliamentarians take a second look into our Constitution and lay down the minimum educational qualification to contest the elections for the Parliament and the Legislature? Which is why, I had asked one last question to Justice Santosh Hegde before the session ended:

We have heard you Sir. Now let us know what are your suggestions to fix these problems?

Justice Hegde reverted to his old refrain — ending greed, society to be reformed etc.

I asked: Do you think the country is doomed and there is no way to redeem its lost ground?

'I do not say that. There is future if the society is reformed. We need to be content with what we have and not be greedy to acquire wealth by illegal means.'

His wise counselling: 'We as individuals should stop honouring those with illegal wealth. Stop voting them to power. It is disgusting to see Ministers, MLAs and MPs found guilty for corruption and criminal acts being garlanded and taken in procession when released on bail or from jail. I could not understand how a leader like Lalu Prasad Yadav was able to get majority seats in the last Assembly election despite being known for blatant corruption and for being in jail.'

This is pure sermon ! And we have had enough of it.

However, Justice Hegde did not suggest how we could fix the problem facing our country today. It would be of benefit to the aspiring youngsters, who want to "Bring Change" to create a "New, Modern India," if Justice Hegde could in his future speeches [he has already interacted with students in 960 educational institutions] make suggestions to fix India's problems as a guide to our new generation youth.

Jai Hind !

Thank You Ashvini for including me among the 'thinking people.'

NGO lends Cell Counter Machine to K.R. Hospital

Mysuru, July 12 (PM&KS)- City-based NGO I Serve Nation has extended a helping hand to K.R. Hospital by lending a Cell Counter Machine to the Blood Testing Laboratory here this morning till the hospital gets a new machine. The NGO has also deployed two technicians to operate the machine.

This Cell Counter Machine, which is capable of testing 300-400 blood samples per day, costs about Rs. 3.5 lakh and was being used at Mysore Diagnostic Centre of Dr. B.H. Manjunath, who is the BJP Mysuru City President.

Speaking after handing over the machine, former Minister Suresh Kumar said that when he visited the hospital about a week ago, there was a huge rush at the lab as there was only one Cell Counter Machine. Since there was a need for another machine, we had contacted Medical Education Minister Dr. Sharana Prakash Patil, who assured of providing one to K.R. Hospital lab, he said and added that till the lab gets the machine, Dr. Manjunath has lent the machine to the lab.

Mysore Medical College & Research Institute (MMC&RI) Dean and Director Dr. B. Krishnamurthy, K.R. Hospital Incharge Medical Superintendent Dr. Chandrashekar and Dr. B.H. Manjunath were present.

Dhruvakumar steps in; matter goes to CM again

Maintaining that the Survey No. 4 Hitharakshana Samithi had conducted a series of agitations and had even booked criminal cases against some officers for causing mental agony to the residents, Manjunath said that despite all this, the issue was not solved. He alleged that despite the issue being brought to the attention of the Chief Minister in the past, no action was taken.

"We hear only that the Mysuru Deputy Commissioner and Regional Commissioner have submitted their reports on the land and a way out of the deadlock to the concerned Government secretary. But for these reports, we have seen nothing concrete and the residents continue to suffer. Appreciating Dhruvakumar for his many people-friendly initiatives, he urged him to intervene.

Receiving the memorandum, Dhruvakumar said that he understood the plight of the residents and would speak to CM Siddharamaiah when he comes to Mysuru on July 15.

Former Deputy Mayor Mahadevamma, Survey No. 4 Hitharakshana Samithi members Hemanth Kumar, C.M. Shivakumar, K.M. Vijayaprakash and others were present.

RSS worker's murder: MLA Suresh Kumar demands peace meeting in Bantwal

Mysuru, July 12 (RKB&NNN)- Even as Chief Minister Siddharamaiah has ruled out the National Investigation Agency (NIA) probe into the murder of RSS worker Sharath Madivala in Bantwal, former Minister and MLA Suresh Kumar took umbrage and charged that the CM and Dakshina Kannada District in-charge Minister B. Ramanath Rai should have held a peace meeting immediately, instead of playing vote bank politics.

Addressing the media at Patrakarthara Bhavan here this morning, he said that the State Government has completely failed in maintaining law and order in the State. Instead of making political speeches and making allegations against BJP leaders, it should have taken action against the culprits, he said.

"We will wait for two more days and if the government does not act then we have to take a decision to stage protests," he warned. State BJP Minorities President Abdul Kareem, City BJP President Dr. B.H. Manjunath, Kodagu District General Secretary Ravi Kushalappa and Corporator Nandeesh Preetham were present.

Ravi Shastri appointed as Team India coach

Ravi Shastri

Mumbai, July 12- The BCCI yesterday named Ravi Shastri as the new chief coach of Indian cricket team with Zaheer Khan appointed the bowling coach for a period of two years. Meanwhile, the board has also appointed Rahul Dravid as the batting consultant (Test cricket) as India will be playing overseas Test Series in the next two years.

BCCI Acting President C.K. Khanna announced that Shastri would be the new coach of Team India and his tenure will be till ICC World Cup 2019.

It will be third stint with the national team for 55-year-old Shastri, who was earlier a Cricket Manager during 2007 tour of Bangladesh and then Team Director from August, 2014 to June 2016 during which India won overseas Test series against Sri Lanka, reached the semi-finals of 2015 World Cup and World T20 semi-finals in 2016.

It was learnt that there was a fight between Shastri and Virender Sehwag but it was skipper Virat Kohli's strong recommendation about Shastri's earlier tenure that swung the deal in favour of former Indian all-rounder. Zaheer Khan, who last played international cricket in 2014, is considered to be one of finest exponents of swing bowling India has ever produced.

I will be joining the job in a few days and only after that I will come to know of the type of work I need to perform," she said.

Konta beats Halep in a thriller

TODAY'S MATCHES

MEN'S SINGLES QUARTER FINAL

16	G. Muller	Vs	7	M. Cilic
1	A. Murray	Vs	24	S. Querrey
6	M. Raonic	Vs	3	R. Federer
11	T. Berdych	Vs	2	N. Djokovic

London, July 12- Johanna Konta beat Romanian second seed Simona Halep in a thrilling match to become Britain's first women's Wimbledon semi-finalist since 1978.

Sixth seed Konta, 26, fought back to win 6-7 (2-7) 7-6 (7-5) 6-4 and match Virginia Wade's feat of 39 years ago. With Wade watching from the Royal Box, Konta served superbly to win in two hours and 38 minutes and set up a semi-final clash against Venus Williams.

Konta is just two victories from matching Wade's 1977 triumph and will take on five-time champion Williams on Thursday for a place in the final. Halep, 25, would have replaced Germany's Angelique Kerber at the top of the rankings with victory over Konta, but Czech Karolina Pliskova will instead be the new world number one.

Konta has repeatedly spoken of the mental and tactical "process" she relies upon during her rise up the rankings, and it held up superbly under huge pressure.

She finished the match with 36 unforced errors to Halep's nine, but trusted in an attacking game plan that produced 48 winners to 26.

And having coped with the tag of title favourite since she won her second-round match, Konta overcame an opponent on the brink of becoming world number one with impressive poise.

Konta has won three of her five previous meetings against Williams and is looking ahead to their sixth encounter.

He said that he has got information that there was pressure at Sewage Farm in Vidyaranyapuram, due to inflow of huge piles of garbage and added that the waste, which is generated daily in city be segregated and transported to the units in the outskirts of city.

He instructed the officials to immediately take up construction of modern solid waste management units in Kesare, Rayanakere and Sewage farm besides asking them to procure NOCs from various Departments and commence the works before November.

The DC further said that the MCC was unable to segregate the waste dumped on the sides of the Ring Road due to technical issues and instructed the officials concerned to facilitate the smooth flow of sewage from residential layouts in the surrounding.

He instructed the MCC officials to keep necessary systems and facilities that has to be provided, in mind before giving permission for formation of layouts.

There will be classes throughout the year for students studying in degree, diploma, engineering and semester courses. All such students should be given free bus passes and also the money should be refunded to students who already have bought the passes, they demanded.

Hunger strike for Maharaja High School compound wall

Mysuru, July 12- Maharaja High School and PU College Old Students Association President B.S. Sridhar Raje Urs will stage a hunger strike from dawn to dusk (7 am to 7 pm) on July 14 in front of the Mummadi Chamaraja Wadiyar statue installed in the School premises.

In a press release, Raje Urs has stated that he is forced to resort to the hunger strike as repeated pleas to the Chief Minister, Ministers concerned, Legislators, Corporation and MUDA officials to repair the compound wall which had collapsed some years ago, has fallen on deaf ears.

Mummadi Chamaraja Wadiyar founded the Maharaja High School in 1833 and Raje Urs as Principal of the School in 1987 celebrated 150 years and in 2009 as the President of the Old Students Association celebrated the 175th anniversary of the School. It is sad to note that the Government is ignoring a reputed institution like the Maharaja High School.

As July 14 is the birth anniversary of the founder, it would be meaningless to celebrate the visionary's anniversary when the compound lies in utter neglect. Hence, he has decided to stage the hunger strike from 7 am to 7 pm, said Sridhar Raje Urs.

He has requested the old students of the Association to participate in the protest and draw the attention of the Government.

The DC has further stated that the fuel distributors should solve their problems through lawful ways and could submit their petitions through the Central and State Government oil companies or through the Deputy Commissioner.

Deputy Commissioner D. Randeep has warned of taking legal action against those stopping the supply of fuels by staging protests frequently, which has become inevitable.

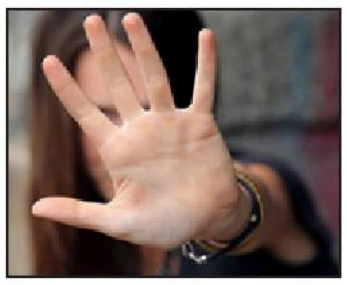
WORD OF THE DAY

Repudiate

Pronunciation: rih-PYOO-dee-ayt.



Meaning: To divorce or separate formally from (a woman); to refuse to have anything to do with: disown; to refuse to accept; especially: to reject as unauthorised or as having no binding force; to reject as untrue or unjust; to refuse to acknowledge or pay.

Origin: In Latin, the noun repudium refers to the rejection of a spouse or prospective spouse, and the related verb repudiare means "to divorce" or "to reject." In the 16th century, English speakers borrowed repudiare to create the English verb repudiate, which they used as a synonym of divorce when in reference to a wife and as a synonym of disown when in reference to a member of one's family. They also used the word more generally in the sense of "to reject or cast off." By the 18th century repudiate had also come to be used for the rejection of things that one does not accept as true or just, ranging from opinions and accusations to contracts and debts.

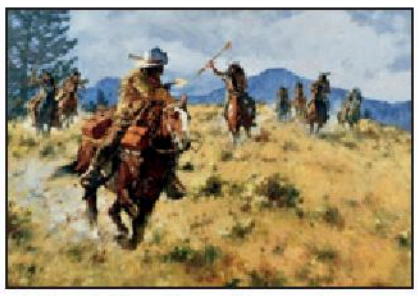
THE ODD WORD

Ulcuscle

A small ulcer.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

By the skin of your teeth



Meaning: Narrowly; barely. Usually used in regard to a narrow escape from a disaster.

Origin: The phrase first appears in English in the Geneva Bible, 1560, in Job 19:20, which provides a literal translation of the original Hebrew:
"I haue escaped with the skinne of my tethe."
Teeth don't have skin, of course, so the writer may have been alluding to the teeth's surface or simply to a notional minute measure - something that might now be referred to, with less poetic imagery than the biblical version, as 'as small as the hairs on a gnat's bollock'.

CRYPTOQUIP

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

LPG distributor appeals for availing benefits of 'Ujjwala' scheme

Mysuru, July 12 (RKB)- H.P. Gas Distributors Mysuru Zone Convenor Mehul J. Patel has appealed the public to avail the benefits of the Union Government's 'Ujjwala' free LPG connection scheme.

Addressing a press meet here recently, Mehul Patel said that the Union Government's ambitious 'Ujjwala' scheme was launched in the district last month. A total of 2,89,575 beneficiaries from 265 villages across the district have been identified so far, he said. Observing that the scheme had not fully covered the targeted beneficiaries, he said, the scheme is meant for only women members of a family and those interested in knowing more about the scheme, can visit their nearest gas agency.

Pointing out that the woman beneficiary of the scheme should be knowing the correct name and other details of her parents, he said that woman having an LPG connection in her husband's name, can pass on the benefit of the scheme to her daughter.

Patel further said that LPG customers should compulsorily check the weight of cylinders before taking delivery.
